THE SENIOR CLASS

Waco High School Waco, Texas

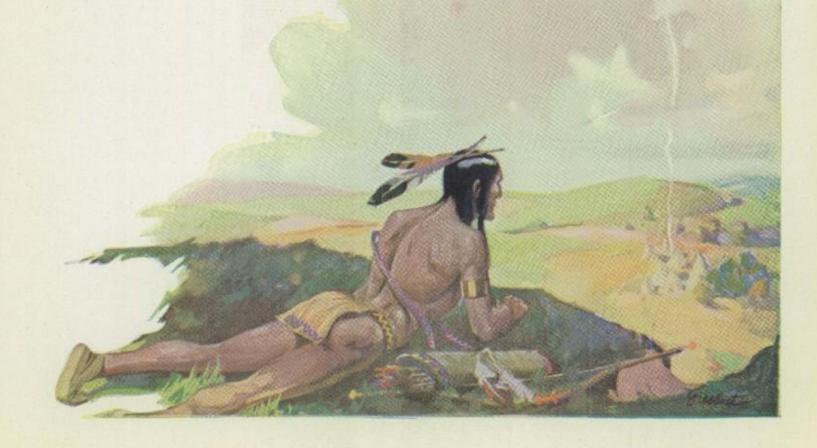

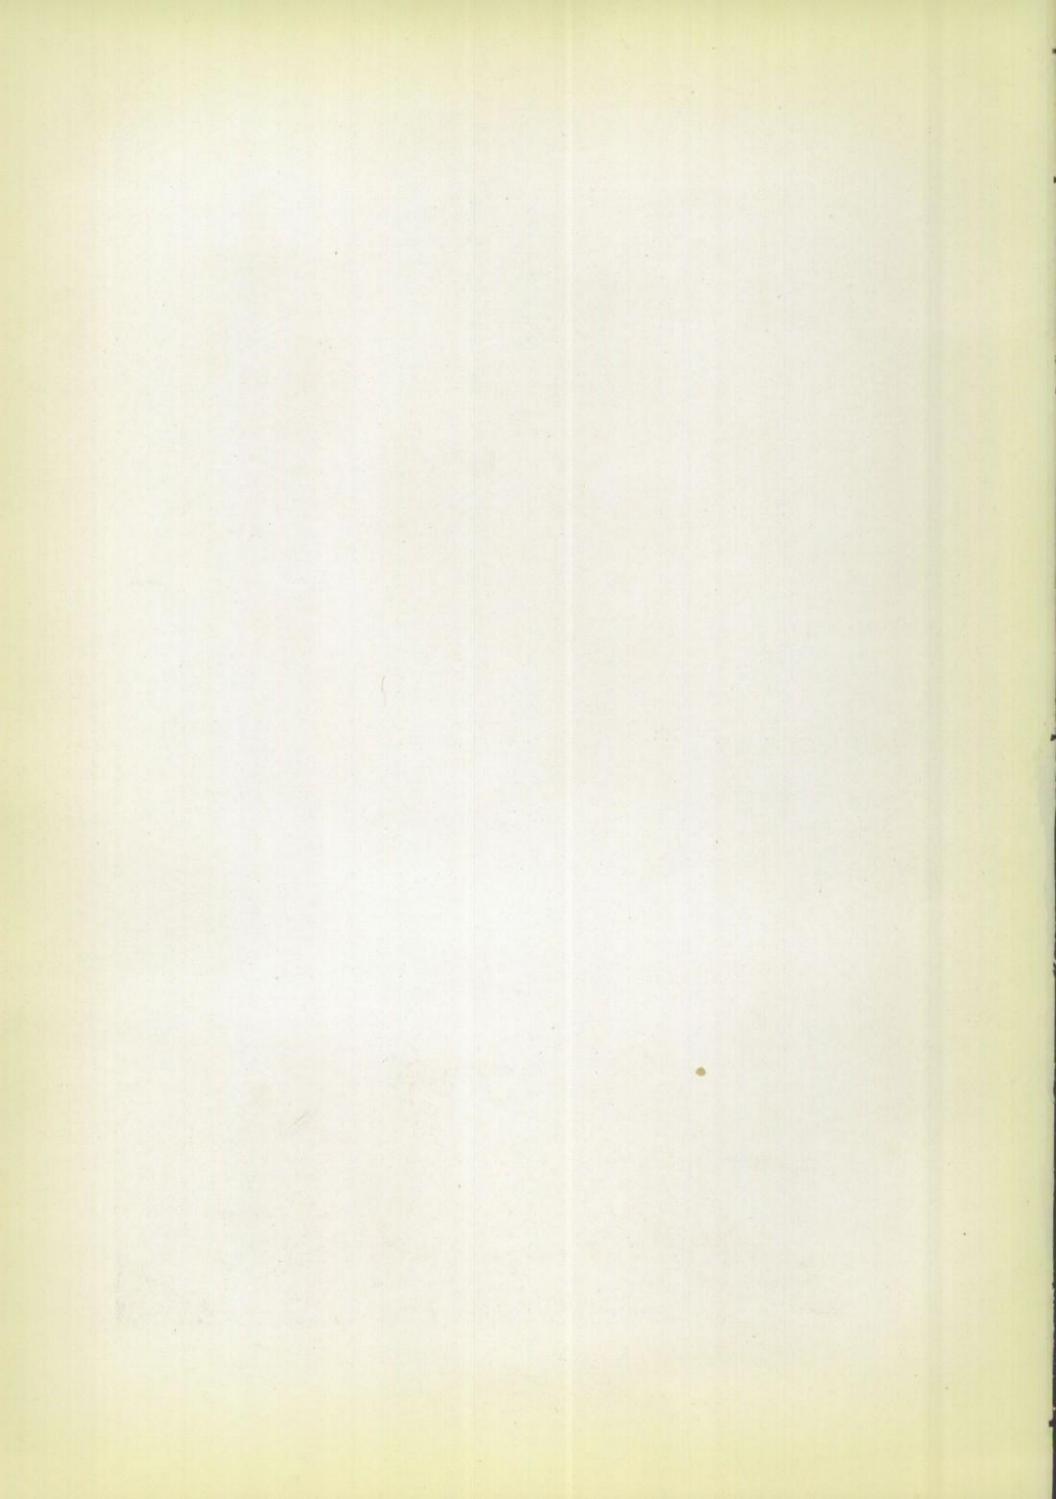

Foreword

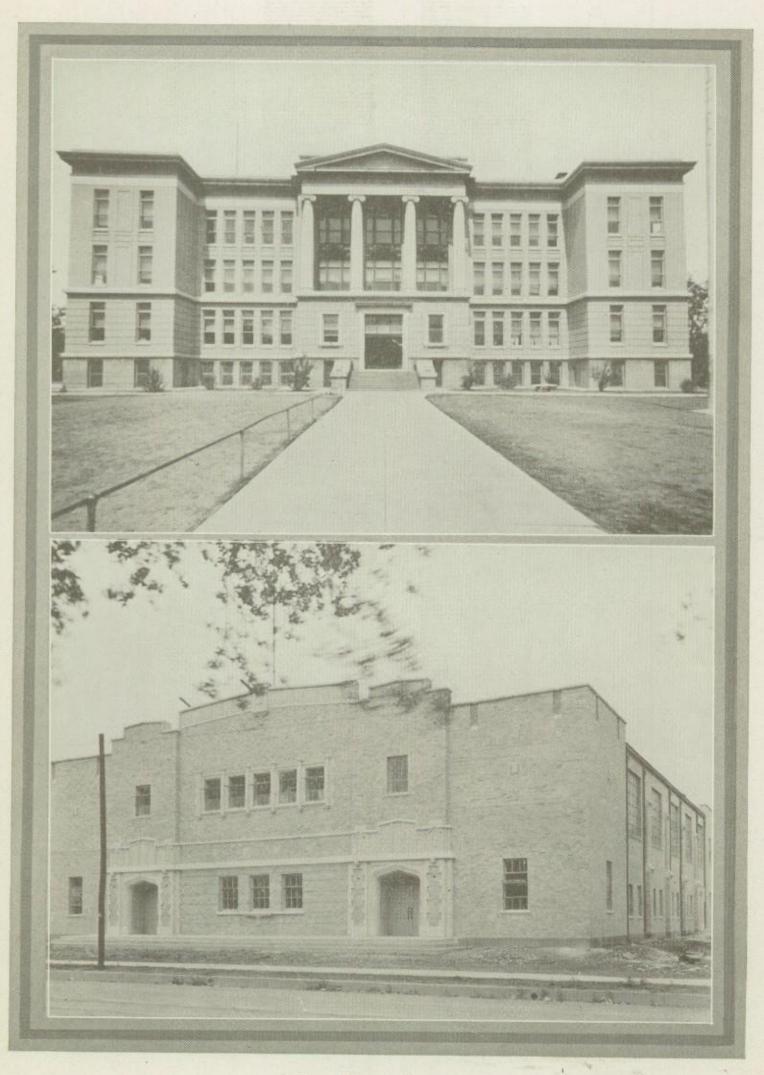

Texas is an Indian word meaning friend. Waco is also an Indian word. The Texas or Tejas were members of a powerful Indian Confederacy which once controlled Texas. The Wacos or Huacos were members of the tribe which founded Waco village on the banks of the Brazos. The Indian breastworks and line of defense were on or near the site where the Gymnasium now stands.

For the purpose of connecting the legends and history of the past with accomplishments of the present, we have chosen the Indian motif throughout this book in order to honor the citizens of Waco who have made this Gymnasium possible.

WACO HIGH SCHOOL GYMNASIUM

Mr. Ernest A. Bernhausen
A. B., Baylor University
Graduate Student, Wisconsin
Head of History Department, Waco High School

Dedication

TO

MR. E. A. BERNHAUSEN

In appreciation of his inspiring influence as a teacher; his untiring efforts as coach of the football "cannon fodder;" his unselfish help in all branches of athletics; his enthusiastic support of every student activity; his hearty interest in the students themselves; and above all, his thorough worth as a gentleman, we,

THE CLASSES OF 1925, affectionately dedicate to him this volume of the Daisy Chain Annual

Spirit of Waco High

By FLOYD KYMES RUSSELL

T

We love our flag, the Stars and Stripes,

We love our native land,

We love our State, its single star,

For it we proudly stand,

But from our hearts in loyalty we strive with main and might,

For Waco High, and we will fly the colors Gold and White.

II

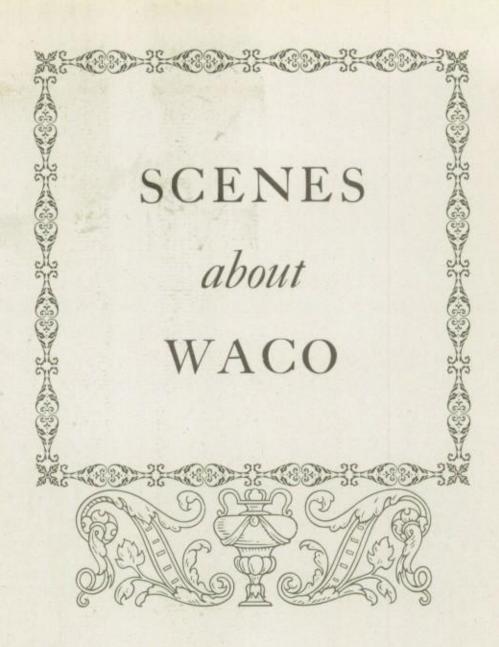

When school days end and we look back
On days in Waco High,
Our hearts will fill with memories
Of happy days gone by.
'Tis then our loyalty will rise above what time can tell,
And as of yore, we'll sing once more the song we love so well.

CHORUS

Spirit of Waco is in our hearts so strong, Gladly our voices shout in mighty song; In battle or contest we'll ever stand by you, Spirit of Waco, to Waco High School true.

DAISY CHAIN 世卍 1925

Shield of White

I wonder why we love you,
Shield of White?
I know that never an emblem
Was more bright.
Yet, some your lofty beauty
Will deny.
I wonder why?

I wonder why we love you,
Daisies fair?
Your color scheme is splendid,
I declare.
Yet, some near you seek roses
Not so nigh.
I wonder why?

Oh, Shield of White and Daisies,
Though we part,
This class will ever keep you
Near its heart
And cherish there your spirit,
Ne'er to die,
Dear Waco High.

-LELLA GRACE CORNFORTH, '25.

Mid-Year Class History

HIS is a history, dear to the hearts of each member of the Class of 1925—a history that the sages have never repeated. Four years we have struggled faithfully to obtain a history that would always be remembered. And finally, after overcoming the many obstacles that confronted us, we have arrived at our goal—Graduation. Work! Work! has been our slogan and we have lived up to it manfully.

On one dark dreary morning in February, 1922, one hundred and fifty-eight very green youngsters entered the portals of the high school for the most thrilling days of their lifetime. We were assembled in the lower study hall and the "professor" tried to expound to us the rules and regulations of the institution. We were like most other fishes, green, shy and inexperienced. It did not take us long, however, to learn how to act and soon we were strutting about proclaiming our membership in the Waco High School. Oh, how our feelings were ruffled by that pert Sophomore bunch, with all their jokes and pranks. My, how we longed for revenge!

When we entered our Sophomore year, we forgot the trials and tribulations of our first year, and now watched the poor Freshies cringe beneath our teasings and jokes. It was this year that we entered the upper hall, with its watchful teachers on guard. How we did feel our importance! Our aim was now the balcony and to the balcony we went.

Our Junior year was spent in hard preparation for the final one. Lessons were stacked mountain high but in the end we had conquered them all. During this year our football and basketball teams became so great and famous, that at once we began planning for a gymnasium that would insure even better success. This dream was finally realized during our last year.

And then the last year, the best of them all. We entered it seventy-two strong. Sorry, indeed, are we that some of our classmates fell behind or dropped out to enter the business world or were pierced by Cupid's darts. But we, the largest mid-year class that Waco has ever boasted, found plenty to do and did it well. Shall we ever forget that grand old Senior Party and the faithful thirteen?

After all is said and done, the Class of 1925 has proved to be one of the most staunch and loyal supporters of this dear old school. We have shown what we can do in every field of school activities. We have proven ourselves to be men and women. Now each has started out in the world to make an individual history, this perhaps the sages will repeat, but here's hoping that no one shall ever forget Waco High and the Class of '25.

-WAURINE WALKER.

Mid-Year Class Prophecy

ESTERDAY was a most wonderful day! It was the eighteenth anniversary of the graduation of the Mid-Year Class of '25. As a result of the untiring efforts of the few members of that class who remained in Waco, we classmates of '25 were reunited in that city, the scene of our school days. Of course, many of our old school-fellows could not be present—some were too far away and various reasons prevented others from coming, but the majority of the class arrived joyfully prepared to enjoy the day to the utmost.

Those who planned the reunion arranged a very interesting program for the day. We talked of our school days and visited many of our old friends and teachers, but I must tell you more fully about that part of the program which we enjoyed most.

We met at the High School. There on the east campus, in the shade of the trees, chairs had been arranged in a circle. We took our assigned places and were soon told the purpose of all this. Each of us was to tell what he had done since leaving school. Some of the facts revealed were what we had expected; others were both surprising and startling. But here they are. Judge for yourself.

Virginia Alexander's turn came first. After school days ended, she had chosen to enter the business world, where she met with great success. She became stenographer for a wealthy young business man, who after a short time asked her to be his "secretary for life." She accepted him and is supremely happy.

William Bills was rather wild in his college days but he finally settled down and now owns an orphans' home in East Texas. Grace Jackson is the beloved head of this institution and she told us that Ruth Williams was one of the matrons.

Ellen Barnett did not have to tell us of her success as a writer. Her fame has spread far and wide and we are quite proud that she was one of our classmates. She dedicated her latest novel to the Class of '25.

Alex Hooper has been athletic instructor at the Y. M. C. A. in Houston for several years.

Lucile Warenskjold, George Vasburg, and Ira Dryden are our movie stars. They could not attend our reunion but sent their photographs to each member of the class.

Melvin Groves won his full share of football glory when he went to college and later entered business in Fort Worth. At present he is one of the most respected citizens of that place.

Lucile Bates graduated from the College of Industrial Arts and immediately afterwards married the sweetheart of her high school days. He gave her an article which she had long desired—a beautiful fur choker.

We were so sorry that Robert Smith could not be with us. He is in the midst of his presidential campaign and was, of course, too busy to come. He sent us a telegram, however, expressing his regret and asking us to vote for him.

Wilmer Anderson is one of the most famous humorists in the country. He receives high pay for articles which he writes for papers and magazines.

Louise Lastinger had a very successful career on the stage but she finally deserted Broadway to marry a man who wears white socks with tan shoes and a coat that hangs very much like one which an old teacher of ours in W. H. S. used to wear.

Walter Ziegler is a college professor, Fielding Wood is a bank president in Dallas, and Francis Vesey is a famous cartoonist.

Fred Hoskins was refused by the lady of his heart and went West to become a cowpuncher. He found employment on a ranch owned by Coy Barrett. Coy winked at us and said that Fred's broken heart was being mended very satisfactorily by the young daughter of a neighboring rancher.

Abe Meinstein and friend, Isadore Kaplan, are owners of a large department store in Wichita Falls. If their success continues, they will be very rich in a few years.

Ethel Geffert and Evelyn Payne are president and vice president, respectively, of the American Federated Association of Spinsters (otherwise Old Maids), the purpose of which is the suppression of the use of cigarettes, chewing gum, and fire crackers. They later gave us girls a short lecture on "How to Raise Children" and "How to Get and Keep a Husband."

Raymond Cheek has a chain of 5 and 10 cent stores and although he is still very young, he is already planning a sky-scraper which will completely outclass the one built by Mr. Woolworth.

Gladys Smith would be quite happy and contented teaching kindergarten if it were not for the distressing ambition of her dearest friend, Waurine Walker, to be a grand opera singer. Waurine is encouraged in this work by the great prima donna, Susie Mae Hollon.

Flora Sutherland has won fame and fortune with her violin.

Tony Bartos is an aviator and takes pictures for the Pathe News. In his spare time, he takes people for short trips over New York at $25 a trip. He says he has never yet had a "falling out" with any of his customers.

Omero Chionsini's quest for the world's best cigar was ended in Cuba. There he now has a large tobacco plantation and is a very prosperous merchant.

Mildred Carlson began to teach music soon after she left school, but did not have much success. She was about to give up in despair when the brilliant idea of teaching popular music and jazz instead of the usual classics came to her. Then her fortune was assured.

George Chazanow went on a hunting expedition to India. He became lost from his party and was found by a wild tribe of natives, who thought he was a god and proclaimed him their chief. He has held that position ever since.

Otis Smith is one of the finest lawyers in the South.

Helen Hutchinson is happily engaged in washing dishes, darning socks, etc., for "the most wonderful man in the world" and her twins are the cutest things you ever saw.

H. Lee Jones is a brilliant scientist and inventor, and is at the edge of a great discovery. He told us something about it, but used such enormous words that we knew no more than we had when he started!

The Smith twins entered business together in St. Louis. There they have a large factory and make toothpicks which are being used by all the best families.

Craven Beard became a preacher and somebody said he was on a missionary tour in Africa at present.

Mabel Ockander has a millinery shop in Beaumont. Edith Hughes is her best customer. Mabel says Edith buys at least two new hats every month. She married a wealthy oil man and nearly drives him crazy by her extravagance in the matter of clothes.

Fred Kleypas has a peanut and popcorn stand on one of the busy down-town corners of Hewitt, Texas.

John Braun's desire to travel led him to give up a good position with a business firm in order to become a street car conductor. When he tires of the scenery in one place, he goes to another city. I believe he has managed to see most of the points of interest in our country in this manner.

Lillian Gammon is proprietress of a very popular bakery shop in Waco.

Donovan Teeple is the U. S. Ambassador to Italy. During his spare moments he is preparing a book for his friends in America on "The Art of Eating Spaghetti Gracefully."

Earl Busby and Lee Smith organized a large company which makes and sells all kinds of fancy cakes and candies. Much sampling of their products and the passing of years have made them "fat and forty," but they don't seem to mind.

Janette Spenser is a professional dressmaker. She makes clothes for the society people and goes to Paris each year to get new styles from Poiret, Martial, and Armand.

Arthur Bondurant claims that in him the world may find what it has long been seeking—a truly painless dentist. Verna Whitenberg is his stenographer and office girl.

And, oh! I almost forgot. I am the village librarian in a little town in Vermont.

History of Senior Class of 1925

HEN WE (the June Class of 1925) came to dear old Waco High, it was as very insignificant Freshmen (such as all good Freshmen are supposed to be). There were kinks and curls and pigtails, but very few bobs, 'cause you know the bobs were just coming in then, even for High School Freshmen.

And the boys (dear me, we mustn't forget them, even though—). The boys, as we were saying, in short and long trousers—and woe unto those who put on their first long ones after they had reached this school and their first steps toward Seniordom!

Oh, that first day! There was much excitement and questions flew high. Freshmen went through the lunch lines in the cafeteria and came out with lunches but with no lunch checks. They received a good scolding for this (you all remember it) and were sent on their way with red ear tips and downcast eyes. How timidly we glanced up at the Seniors and drew great sighs and murmured, "Oh, when I'm a Senior and put up on a pedestal like that." But that seemed a terribly long way off. Juniors were to be envied and Sophomores, of course, were a little higher up than we were, but not to be envied at all! For weren't they just a little higher than we and wasn't that to be our next step?

When we were Sophomores we really felt as though we knew quite as much as anyone else who tread those walks and grounds (peppered with "Please keep off the grass" signs). But still that thought of seniority held in our minds above all else. Oh, how we did want a locker on the third floor and the right to strut up and down the hall with a sign on our back written in great black letters, "I'm a Senior." How slowly time did pass! Would we never become Seniors?

Well, to continue our tale, as time passed on we became Juniors (which is not miraculous at all). And, do you know, Seniorhood didn't seem so high from there? However, occasionally we would think, "Oh, how nice to be Seniors and have Senior privileges and sit in the balcony!"

My Junior feelings were like the saying: "A man is never a hero to his valet" (—there now, I feel as though I had accomplished something by putting that in—. I have been trying to get in a quotation or something ever since I started this history of my dear class).

And now that we have become Seniors (at last I can write in the present tense), we don't feel superior at all. It only seems to be a matter-of-fact. Looking around in our Senior class I can hardly find a girl who has not left her curls and pigtails behind. Some came off even in the latter part of our Freshman year, others succumbed to it in their Sophomore year, while those who would never, never be so foolish as to bob their hair, went into the barber chair during their Junior and Senior years. And now all we see is short hair, maybe straight, natural, permanent, or marcelled.

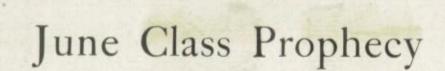

When you really are a Senior one doesn't feel at all different as you thought you would. Maybe you have grown a little and have become a little wiser (maybe), but there is not that awful breach between Freshmen and Seniors.

Toward the end of the Senior year you have that awful feeling when you think about leaving the old high school and it makes you feel "mos' awf'ly blue." When you think of all the class dividing, some going here and others there. All our classmates for four good round years!

But we can only hope that our dear old high school will miss us even partially as much as we shall miss it, and all the faculty whom we love so dearly.

Good bye, Old Waco High.

ECONTE S

KEY TO THE PROGRAM:

Announcer-RAPHAEL SEGAL.

Station-W. H. S. Broadcasting from High School Gym at Waco, Texas.

Occasion-Events of the Graduating Class of 1925.

RAPHAEL SEGAL-Station W. H. S. broadcasting, Waco, Texas.

R. S.—Friends of Radio Land, we have arranged for your pleasure this evening a special program that will be limited to those of you who took part in the activities of the June Class of W. H. S. in 1925. We have been fortunate in securing the services of some who are members of that class.

The first number on the program will be a violin solo, "To a Wild Rose," by Miss Melba Dean, accompanied by Miss Frances Barnes.

Our next number will be a short discussion by Miss Pauline Harder in connection with her research work of Italian Moths in Czecho-Slavia.

Pauline Harder—Friends, may I have your permission to change my topic of discussion to one which I consider more appropriate for a program of this kind? It shan't be a talk at all, but a bit of news which will probably be interesting to you. Now, do you know that Celeste Mersereau, who usually spends her winters in Florida, has agreed to spend next winter in Maine with Hattie Mae Eichelberger, that confirmed old maid who would surely be lost without her green house shoes, her white dog, black cat, and her parrot. Well, I'll tell you one more item and then let the program continue. Joe Bain has recently been living the life of a hermit in order to complete his new invention, but now he is enjoying popularity because of his success. To demonstrate his new car with airless tires, he has chosen Miss Stella Lee Moore and among her customers are Ray Bevill, Reynolds Damm, Robert Flewellen, Gwathmey Godwin, Homer Holcomb, Wilbur Wright, Benjamin Witsell and Emil Sonneman. And in this connection, let me remind you that the customers are of the stronger sex. Could you find any reason for such being the case?

RAPHAEL SEGAL—Station W. H. S. of Waco, Texas, broadcasting events concerning the June Class of 1925. Wake up, old Waco Grads!

We have just received a number of messages from old members of the class. The first is from Mr. and Mrs. Roger Lacy, Mr. Lacy being employed as a lighthouse keeper on the Pacific Coast. Mrs. Lacy was Miss Lillie Crawford before her marriage. They say they are enjoying the program very much. A telephone message just received is from Zelpha Ebbersol and Zelma Cunningham, who are the owners of a gift shop in this city. Miss Mary Abdnor, a matron at C. I. A. just wired that the program is arousing fond memories

Our next number will be a few words from Stuart Lamkin, manager of the Nethery-Knipple Circus which is now touring the Southwest.

STUART LAMKIN—How-dec-doo, ole friends? I'm going to tell you more about old Waco High Graduates of '25 than you'd learn from Pauline Barrett in the New York Tattler which she is now editing. Did you know that Billy Nethery, Joe Knipple and myself had organized a circus group, had collected species of all animals from the four corners of the earth and that we have the largest circus in the world? Well—we have! Let's start at the entrance: Henry Bartley greets everyone with the cry of "Get your tickets right here," and he no more than sells them than J. U. Lee takes them up. Now, let's go inside the big tent and see the clowns go by—of course, you know whom they are: Asher Lowich, Marium Petty, Frieda Geisler, Alex Saunders, and Cary Canon, and they are real entertainers. But here comes the lions in their cage with Celia Corbin as mistress.

We have something unusual in the line of trapese actors (those of you who know the following—Bessie Hamlin, Lillian Gammon, Rex Wilson, John Polk, and Paul Meadows—will vouch for my last statement). In this connection I shall mention Diamond Collins, who is the most famous tight-rope walker of the world—and here are the screams of the circus: Joseph Cocke, as the FAT man and Albert Winchester as the MIDGET.

We also have two statuary groups. One of these is made up of Evelyn Gay, Ruth Spratt, Dee Green, Willa Sharp, and Mabel Pyland. The other group is Iona Russell, Evelyn Runnels, Pauline Robinson, Jessie Hill and Mattie Oman Rozell.

A few other members of our circus are Mary Hoeffert and Edward Francis, the bareback riders: Mary Rogers as trainer of the dog and pony division; Torbett Armstrong, Alton Ferrill, Forrest Connally, Hubert Crain, and Bruce Perry as the chariot drivers, and last but not least, is our Queen of Sheba—Naomi, yes, Naomi McCauley.

least, is our Queen of Sheba—Naomi, yes, Naomi McCauley.

Let's go outside and see the ascension of the "Daisy," that huge balloon manned by John Milberger, Hugh Hope and Robert Joe Fulwiler. Leon Kele and Travis Davis feed and water the hungry crowd, each in turn calling, "All right, folks, this way to getcha pop-corn and red soda water."

RAPHAEL SEGAL-Station W. H. S. broadcasting, Waco, Texas.

Several other messages have just come in. Arthur Bondurant and Lee Smith, who have a garage, just telephoned that they are listening in. Morris Appell, our popular barber of the city, also telephoned that he is pleased with the outcome of his old graduate friends, especially those that met with a "close shave" in finishing. Lucille Schonberg and Sara Rosenberg just telephoned that their tea room in Lorena is filled with old twenty-fivers who have gathered for the purpose of hearing the program. Clytus Wells and Walter Sloan, expert tailors, Clay Money, owner of a garage, Willis Warwick, the grocer, all residents of Lorena, are among those attending. Among others are John Porter, mayor of Hewitt; Tom Edwards and Scott Foster, dentists of Hewitt, and Harris May and Joe Logue, the advertising agents from a Dallas corporation. Yes, there are a few ladies in the group. Elma Fay Roberson, private secretary to Elizabeth Crain, who is universally known as a writer of etiquette; Virginia Donohoe, home on a visit during the intervening period between sessions of the United States Senate, of which she is a member from Texas, is the week-end guest of Miss Elizabeth Stringer, a resident of Lorena who has taken up the work of modeling.

RAPHAEL SEGAL—The next number for your pleasure will be a piano number by Ray Rozell. Ray has made a name for himself in the musical and literary world and 'tis a rare treat to have him with us.

Next, Miss Alice Dawson, our own representative to foreign courts to negotiate ordinances in behalf of American air traffic, will tell us something of the aerial craft.

ALICE DAWSON—Good evening, my old friends, and it is more than a pleasure to be with you during this program, in spirit if not in person. For my traveling companion I have chosen Lillian Carter and she is a good reminder of the grand old days. It is with the fullest enjoyment that I speak to you this evening about our nation's greatest flying squadron. It will be noted with special interest that John Frederick Cornforth is in charge of the craft. Twenty-five planes are under his direction and these might have been seen in action a short time ago in the different parts of Europe to demonstrate the dire need of aerial traffic regulations. We have a few others of our class who chose the air rather than the earth as working place. Recall these: Edward Berry, Harold Callan, Everett Craig, James Mallard and J. B. Snodgrass. We can say that these members at least are living high.

RAPHAEL SEGAL—The following number will be of unusual interest. Ruth Lee Schlitzkus is a prominent elocution teacher of the city and she will now recite that dear class poem of '25 for you that are listening in.

RAPHAEL SEGAL-Station W. H. S. broadcasting, from Waco, Texas.

It seems that there are many more of our number listening in than we had anticipated, for several other messages have come in. One from Geraldine Clewell, who is the chaperone for the Girls' Basketball Squad of Waco High; one from Mary Aurelia Potter, the owner of an up-to-date toy shop in San Antonio. Ollie Willings has established one of the most fastidious dress shops in the south and has for her assistants Maurine Odom, Evelyn King and Lilli in Williams. These report very favorably on our program. Our old basketball and football captain, Charlie Taylor, has favored us with a wire from Camden, New Jersey, where he is making records for the Victor Co. There seems quite a demand for his records.

The next number is a report by Jane Childs, who is reporter for the Los Angeles Times. Jane Childs—I have had a personal interview with Alleyne Jaynes, a society leader of Los Angeles, concerning the physical condition of her Pekinese dog. Its health is the cause of much comment and Miss Jaynes has several specialists in daily attendance. Pearl Moore, the oculist; Henry Keough, the dentist; Essie Ray Harris, the chiropractor; Flora Johnson, the chirpodist, are in consultation with the physicians, James McMurrain, Wilkes McGhee and Ellen Brunson. Their instructions are carefully being carried out by the nurses, Maurine Snell, Leona Talbert and Katharine Lambert and Sibyl Jenkins, who has become quite proficient as a dietician, and sees to it that scalded milk is the patient's only nourishment.

RAPHAEL SEGAL.—Our next number is a selection by the orchestra of Thomas Riggs, who has his headquarters in New Orleans. Thomas Riggs will now make a few remarks.

Thomas Riggs—Folks, when you hear those moanin' saxophones, think of James Doyle, Cecil Daugherty, John Hugh Westmoreland and Curtis Laughlin. Other old members of our group in the orchestra are Brevard Miller, Mitchell Cox, and Gordon Phillips. You may know that they are playing for the sole enjoyment of old graduate members.

RAPHAEL SEGAL-Station W. H. S. of Waco, Texas, broadcasting events concerning the Tune Class of '25.

The next number on the program will be a few remarks given by Miss Leila Park, who in collaboration with Miss Sarah Dossett has just completed a book on "How to Make Exemption in Civics." The subject of Miss Park's discussion is "The Latest in Beauty Culture." Miss

Park will now speak:

Leila Park—To those who are listening in, I wish to make a few remarks regarding a swimming class in the Dead Sea under the supervision of Miss Mary Nena Myers, who guarantees that two lessons a week will take away need of all cosmetics. Those to be noted in her class are: Eva Youngblood, Margaret Lewis, Louisa Bell Morgan, Leila Nicholson, Norma Paylor, Lila Mae Ehman, Merle Price, Mavis Bell, Annie Clement, and Rosa Genecov. These old Waco grads were rather surprised to see Juanita Booth, Ruth Dominy, and Reta Taylor, and soon learned that they were collecting antiques for an exhibit hall which is owned by Joe Kennedy and John Howle.

RAPHAEL SEGAL-Station W. H. S. broadcasting from Waco, Texas.

Friends, when this program was prepared I never dreamed of having such a multitude of messages from our old members. Why, here's one from Havana, Cuba, and it is from Katherine Carter, who is at the head of the Spanish Department of the University of Cuba. She reports that she is enjoying all the numbers. Another of our old friends who is a member of the faculty of that university is Dora Mae Carey, "our old Math Shark," and she states that she, too, is enjoying the program. While mentioning teachers, let me add Gladys Ernest to the list. She is head of the History Department in the University of Chicago, and having a liking for histories in general, is pleased with this item of news concerning her old friends. And say, folks, you may always expect the unexpected—for imagine, if you can, Harold Knopp, "that old debater," as a teacher or aesthetic dancing. He says he is with us in spirit this evening.

RAPHAEL SEGAL—Our program will continue. Miss Esther Rebecca Harlan, the vice president of our memorable class, is connected with a large jewelry corporation which is established in this city, and will say a few words to you at this time.

ESTHER REBECCA HARLAN—Well, folks, I can't express how happy I am to be with you tonight. Recall the happiest days of a person's life and "them are my sentiments," when I think of old Waco High. You, of course, want to know more of our old finishers, so here goes. The Waco folks thoroughly understand the term "Cotton Palace," therefore, I'll tell you something about it. At the last coronation several of the '25 group were honored (this could be expected). The setting and costumes were in imitation of the old Anglo-Saxon Court and it was made more real by the presence of a good jester and no other than Velma Melear, the "village cut-up," was given this part. Alton Martin was considered the suitable man to portray the kingly part, and the ladies and gentlemen of the court were chosen accordingly. The Coliseum was filled to overflowing and every ear was strained to hear the name of the lady who was to sit beside the king. The herald appeared and none were surprised to recognize Morris Leonard. Then followed profound silence as he proclaimed the entrance of her Majesty, the Queen, Elizabeth of the House of McKennon.

RAPHAEL SEGAL-This will be followed by our "Say It With Flowers" man, John Gray

Kendall.

JOHN GRAY KENDALL—I wonder, dear friends, if Raphael is referring to my disposition or my trade—'cause you probably know I'm a florist by trade. 'Member way back in the Daisy Chain days, when we used to have columns headed, "We would like to see," and "We would like to know why?" Well, now I'm going to establish a column of my own and head it: "DIDJA KNOW THAT—"

Bruce Ward is coaching the baseball team at A. & M. College of Texas?

Henry Etta Edwards is a successful movie actress? Alwilda Davis is a teacher of violin in St. Louis, Mo.? Bennie Pochyla is prominent in the scientific world?

Ruth Gardner is a real farmerette in that she oversees the work done on her farm near Clarendon.

Garnett Dodson is the founder of the Girls' College of Physical Culture at Marlin?

Leldon Thompson is an electrical engineer of importance and has his offices located in Detroit?

Carra Lee Davis and Grace Hines have been very successful in their work with Flo Zeigfeld's Follies?

Earl Rovillo, in his old-time laconic way, is spending his days giving prescriptions which will renew health and strengthen shattered nerves? For he is an expert nerve specialist? Ione Casey is in Moscow, Russia, studying in detail the elements of photography?

Clifford Casswell is in Philadelphia and is considered the most capable architect in that city? He spent much time in Rome where he studied the old Roman plans of architecture?

Ethel Burnham is portraying Madonna parts for Inez Allen? Inez Allen, with her lovable qualities, has won for herself much fame and for Ethel world recognition as the perfect example of a Madonna with those beautiful expressive brown eyes.

Jack Foster is a teacher of Anatomy in Simmons College in the old rival city of Abilene? Lena Huggins has really left Texas and is one of New York's society leaders? Indeed, she has as a companion Ruth Smith, who is kept busy seeing that Lena never goes out with dirty neck and ears.

RAPHAEL SEGAL-Station W. H. S. of Waco, Texas, broadcasting events of the Waco High Class of 1925.

Ole friends, I'm hoping you are really enjoying the program, and I must pause to read to you some other messages that have come in. One from Annabelle Brazeale, an advertising agent from James P. Simpson Co., of Dallas, says the program is very interesting. William Edgar, who has completed an invention which is an additional part to the machine gun, wires from his suburban home of Los Angeles that he has just realized tonight how much he values his radio because of its having brought him this bit of news. Catherine Johnson wires that she is enjoying the program and as a bit of personal news says that she is more than glad that her efforts to keep the cross-word puzzle in vogue have been successful. Earl Gilmore wires from Des Moines, where he has established an up-to-date shop for ideal apparel of men, that he and his wife and enjoying the program. It may be remembered that Mrs. Gilmore was Miss Ruth Boggess before her marriage. Our old pal, Frances Zarr, long since Mrs. Roy Chastain, telephones from her home in Ryan Place Addition that she and Roy are very much interested. Do you recall the above "Addition"? Well, it's named after Gilbert (Pokey) Ryan, who is the partner of Eugene Stricker in their practice of law.

RAPHAEL SEGAL—The eighth number on our program is a few words from our beloved Miss Sarah Edna Payne.

SARAH EDNA PAYNE—I am overjoyed to know that a troup of Shakesperean actors has been organized with Miss Dixie Lynn Wood as director. Five of her cast are from our old class—Mary Lynn Jones, Mantie Arnold Webb, Lillian Adams, Thomas Hinson, and Ralph Cobb. And these have won distinction in their respective roles.

RAPHAEL SEGAL—The next number will be a vocal solo by Miss Adele Mistrot, accompanied by Miss Elouise Meers. These two old grads are very prominent in the music world of Texas.

RAPHAEL SEGAL—Old '25'ers, are you listening in? I hope so, 'cause this program is for your special benefit. Station W. H. S. broadcasting from Waco, Texas. Our next number will be fostered by an old timer who has rallied to our call for information relating to old Waco graduates. This person is no other than Sallie Lou Trimmier.

SALLIE LOU TRIMMIER—Say, folks, "ain't it a grand and glorious feeling" to know that this program is being enjoyed by all our old family? I have some news that may be interesting to you and have decided to make it another news column:

Gladys Abel and Evelyn Gordon are spending the season in Paris, Evelyn studying music and Gladys interior decorating.

Florence Walsh is in Montreal lecturing on the various methods of arranging long-flowing tresses so as to take on the appearance of the fascinating bob.

David Brickman and Sander Lowich are the city electricians at this time.

Louise Chambers is married and is very happy.

Jack Fraser is now our city manager and proves efficient in the capacity of the office. Gladys Lawson has gained for herself the name of an expert chemist of Mississippi.

Florence Kelley and Lena Purvis are "Baby Specialists" of San Francisco.

Price McWilliams is a surveyor for the Texas Company in the Western part of the State.

Mona Johnson has just edited a new dictionary.

Pearl Koppman is doing research work in the old classics at the University of Berlin.

Tom Covey and Herchel Gress are two of our city commissioners.

Lucile Lackey and Frances McCrary are both Deans of Women's Colleges, Lucile at Baylor, Belton, and Frances at Milford.

RAPHAEL SEGAL-Station W. H. S. of Waco, Texas, broadcasting.

And here are some other expressions of interest and good will from our number. The first received from John Tom Hurt, the Bexar County Judge, who reports favorably of the program. A second is from Denie Segal, a very popular lecturer on the "Homes and Habitations of Birds," says the program is interesting. J. D. Spear and Clay Weber telephone from their exclusive golf club of this city that they are enjoying the numbers.

Well, look who I see coming-Violet Smith. We've tried to find her to learn more of her explorations of Africa, and as she is here we'll ask her to say a few words.

VIOLET SMITH-Good evening, friends. I walked into the Fabbre Hotel (owned by our old football player, John Fabbre) about an hour before this program started, and Harlan Hackbarth, the hotel manager, recognized me when I came in and told me what the radio program was to be composed of tonight, so we decided to listen in together. I couldn't wait for the end to come, so here I am and I'm not going to talk about the Dark Continent at all, but I'm going to tell you some few things I learned about my classmates while way over there. Mary Elizabeth Mayfield persuaded a number of her old finishing friends to help her in establishing a school in the interior in order to educate that "dark race," which she had studied on a previous journey. She desired that they cultivate a taste for art and the other beautiful things in life, consequently Jessie Mae Johnson, who had become well known for her paintings, went as the instructor of art. Lettie Pope had continued being speedy on the typewriter and she went along as the corresponding secretary. The queerest incident, however, was that the clicking of the typewriter keys very much annoyed the native students and they thought it some probable invisible spirit. To this end Bonnie Weatherby came to the rescue for, having been informed of the case, immediately secured her patent for her noiseless typewriter and sailed for Africa, being accompanied by Esther Tusti, Elbert Wilson, and Hander Fike. On the arrival of these four, each began their respective work. Bonnie was very successful with her noiseless machine and its use did not disturb the natives. Hander Fike and Elbert Wilson immediately began teaching the young boys and men the modern methods of Manual Training while Esther Tusti instructed the women in the most exquisite patterns of embroidery work. This darker group in the interior had never progressed but some enlightenment already was apparent. Frank Schooler and Robert Tinus demonstrated the various uses of the shotgun and within a short time the primitive weapons had been discarded and the new ones taken up in their place. These settlers had picked up very little English, so Mary Elizabeth took Mary Virginia Chick over with her to teach the best uses of English. Mary Elizabeth was very pleased with her colony and as one thing called for another, she sent a message to Winifred Roberts who was in charge of the employment Bureau of New York City, to send her a few helpers to instruct the African group in the terms of civil government. Winifred learned that Nellie Solomon, Lillian Smith and Lorene Shields had just completed a simplified course of the desired subject, so sent them to teach the Africans the true value of government. They must have been good instructors for their plans

Now you remember the tree that was planted in memory of our beloved class, so that at this point I shall mention Margaret Rowe and Elizabeth Bigham, who have made a special study of tree culture and tell me that they are especially interested in the growth of that memorable pecan tree which now furnishes shade as well as its appetizing product.

A few messages have come in since our last reading. Dorothy Snider, now an accomplished violinist of this city, phones in that she is pleased with our program. Some other welcome words come from Myrtle Taylor, Willie Mae Lee and Mary Curd who are joint owners of a chain of up-to-date hat shops throughout the State. Their headquarters are in this city and Frances Read is business manager, with Virginia Young as assistant manager. These five report favorably. Kenneth Hooe wires from Fort Worth, where he is employed in the offices of the M. K. & T. Railroad Co., that though he wasn't acquainted with so many of the '25 graduates, that he really knows now who they are and knows all about them, and that he is duly thankful for having finished at that time.

Friends, it's growing late but I think we have touched upon approximately every member of our class. As Margaret Harris took special interest in Waco High activities, we have urged her to take part on this program and if we have omitted any members, we hope that she will take occasion to bring them in. Let me tell those of you who do not possibly know of Margaret's latest rise in office. She has just been appointed Chief Justice of the Supreme Court and leaves within the next week to fill her office. She will now speak.

MARGARET HARRIS-I deem this an appropriate occasion to bid farewell to my Waco friends in general and to my former classmates in particular. Before it escapes my memory, I wish to tell you that my ever-faithful correspondent, Lella Grace Cornforth, told me in her last letter from Venice, Italy, that she had given up her study of kindergarten work and had taken up that of keeping tidy a bungalow for the very best man in the world. Lella confessed that this romance had been growing rapidly, but that as it had been her own secret she had promised herself not to tell any one. Maybe that was one reason that it came as such a big blow, but I'm sure we all wish her the very best in her future life. But I almost forgot to tell you that her choice was a writer, but we can't be surprised when Lella enjoyed literary work so very much herself, that seems quite fortunate, don't you think? A few days after I received my appointment I received a message of congratulations from Emma Lee Sams and Mertie Bell Cobb, who are living in our capital city. Emma Lee is Librarian and Mertie Bell assistant librarian in the Congressional Library. I do not remember Marcus Easterling and W. Thomas Smith having been mentioned in any preceding part of this program and it is indeed fortunate that I know of their whereabouts, but thanks to the radio you cannot ask me how I know, for that is my personal secret. Marcus is in Houston making use of his knowledge of electrical ap-Thomas has recently been elected president of Rice Institute, also in that city.

Friends, it has been an unusual pleasure to say these few words to the very dearest group of folks in all the world, and though I'll be far away according to mileage, my thoughts will ever be in sympathy with each one, except when I shall be in Court and making the decision which I hope will always be most beneficial to our whole United States. Now, good night, good bye and good luck to each and every one.

RAPHAEL SEGAL—Indeed, we have enjoyed this message from Margaret and now I want to say one thing in conclusion. When arrangements were being made for this program, I wondered what would really coincide with our Class Prophecy. I relaxed last night as I took out my Annual and prepared for a quiet evening filled only with the fondest memories. Now, recall the Prophecy and see for yourself just how many members have traveled the paths so destined in that June Class Prophecy of 1925.

RAPHAEL SEGAL-Station W. H. S. of Waco, Texas, now signing off.

Here they are, the men and women of the Future who can read!
What great man now sits among them who shall serve his country's need?
Here perhaps in frock of gingham, with her hair in ringlets curled,
Is the heroine of tomorrow who may use them to bless the world.

In some way we all are teachers, as the children come and go, And perhaps we should be wiser if the future we could know; We might hold to them more closely if we had the power to see, The glorious men and women that some day they're going to be.

Mona Johnson, Captain and Forward: Captain Johnson has been a most valuable member of the team for two years. Her pleasing disposition, together with her ability as a player, merited the confidence of the girls and they responded by electing her captain for the past season. Mona said very little, but was inclined to let actions speak for her. She has been one of the best forwards in the State both vears that she has been on the team. Mona's place will be hard to fill for there are few girls that possess athletic ability equal to hers.

The team made a splendid record for the year. Twenty-two games were played with only one loss and it came at a time when the girls had grown over-confident. The game was lost on our own floor to a team that we had defeated on their floor with comparative ease some time before. However, the loss served a wholesome purpose for the gir's, probably made a much better team after the defeat. No team scored more than twenty points during a game with Waco, while we ran up high score in a number of games. Sixtynine was our record for the season.

During the State tournament that closed the season, Waco drew the hardest assignment, having to play the next three strongest teams in the State—Cisco, Breckenridge and Atlanta. The only weak team Waco played the game. The Waco team was easily the class of the tournament, having no close rivals.

EVA YOUNGBLOOD, Forward: Eva was one of the most feared members of the Waco team. Many teams felt that if they could stop Youngblood they would have a chance to win, but gave up hope when they realized that it was almost impossible to prevent her scoring when she once got possession of the ball. During the past two years she has been rated as the best forward in the State by the Texas A. A. U. officials. Eva has few equals, either boys or girls, when it comes to hitting the basket. We shall miss Eva very much, and it is apt to be some time before Waco has another her equal.

Mona Johnson Captain and Forward

EVELYN GAY, Jumping Center: Few girls have developed into good basketball players as rapidly as Evelyn has. Until the past two years she had very little chance to really get experience that is essential to playing the game, and yet this year she ranked with the best jumping centers in the State, being placed on the All-State team by the Texas A. A. U. officials. It is unfortunate that she graduates this year, for she would evidently play even a better game another season.

KATE JOHNSON, Side Center: Kate has been with the team only one year, but has been one of our most valuable players. She is fast and accurate and one of the hardest workers of the entire squad. Kate never loafed. She found very few opponents that could give her a real scrap. Kate will be back next year and we predict that she will have few equals anywhere for her position.

SARAH RIDDLE, Guard: A guard has one of the most difficult assignments on the court. She is responduring the tournament was Denton, which the sible for keeping the opponent's score down. Second Team handled for a greater part of Few people really appreciate her efforts, but are ready to condemn her if the opponent scores. Sarah accepted this responsibility and always did her work well. During the past season no team was able to score more than twenty points on the Waco guards. Many times Sarah has intercepted the ball to prevent what seemed like a sure goal against her team. Sarah will be back next year and the forward who scores over her will be entitled to special

DAISY CHAIN ## 1925

LILLIAN McKethan, Guard: At the beginning of the season one guard position was open. Few who knew the girls guessed that "Bill" would fill the vacancy. She had played just ordinary basketball before. Bill took her work more seriously than in former years, and before we realized what was going on, she had the place cinched in spite of keen competition. So well has she played this year that the Texas A. A. U. officials placed her on the All-State team. Bill expects to play again next year and gives promise of still more effective work.

FLORENCE LAWSON, Guard: Although this was Florence's first season to come out for basketball, she came very close to making the team. Few girls ever learned the game faster than she has. Florence has two more years in High School and gives promise of becoming one of the best players we have ever had.

DIXIE LYNN WOOD, Side Center: Dixie has been one of our most valuable players and was so close to the team that when she was called upon to play in important games, the team functioned just as well. On more than one occasion she played the best game of any girl on the floor. She decisively outplayed the side center that was placed on the All-State team by the Texas A. A. U. officials. The fact that she did not play throughout enough games kept her from being considered for an All-State place. We are sorry to lose Dixie by graduation.

Myrtle Lee Peterson, Forward: Myrtle Lee has been with us but one year but has made a splendid record. She is one of the fastest forwards in the State. Her goal shooting was frequently sensational. With another year's growth she will become one of the best forwards in the State.

GLADYS ERNEST, Forward: Although the smallest member of the First Squad, Gladys was by no means least when it comes to ability as a player. No other girl could play so many positions and play each one as well as Gladys. She was placed at forward rather late this year, and at the close of the season was one of our best. It is unfortunate that she, too, graduates.

MILDRED MAYNARD, Jumping Center: Mildred played good ball at the beginning of the season and constantly improved. Her good work aided very materially in the development of the team. Evelyn could never feel altogether secure about her position and hence really played a much better game because of Mildred's inspiration. We are indeed glad that Mildred is to be with us again.

Mollie Ruth Bailey, Guard: Mollie Ruth has constantly improved and was playing a good game at the close of the season. The fact that Waco has always had a strong Second Team has enabled us to develop winning teams. Too much praise cannot be given to the girls who make the First Team possible.

INEZ INGRAM, Forward: Inez is one of our valuable Second Team girls, without which a strong First Team is not possible. She was handicapped by an injury for some time, but rendered valuable service, always being ready to do her part well when given an opportunity.

One of the reasons for Waco's good teams has been the Second Squad girls. They gave the First Squad plenty of practice and were a constant reminder that they could not loaf. Most of the First Squad girls came up through this group.

The following girls were on the Second Squad:

VEDA BEN BOLINGER ELIZABETH CLARE CARTER HELEN RUTH COSTON MARGARET DUGGER ALICE DAWSON

LELA EVANS
ILA MAE GOSS
PAULINE HARDER
MABEL GREY HOWELL
MARY LYNN JONES
MARGUERITE MANTON

KITTIE MAUDE MARRS MYRTLE NORWOOD CHRISTINE OLSON CORINNE PRICE CHRISTINE SMITH

Some of these girls will, without doubt, make the First Team next year.

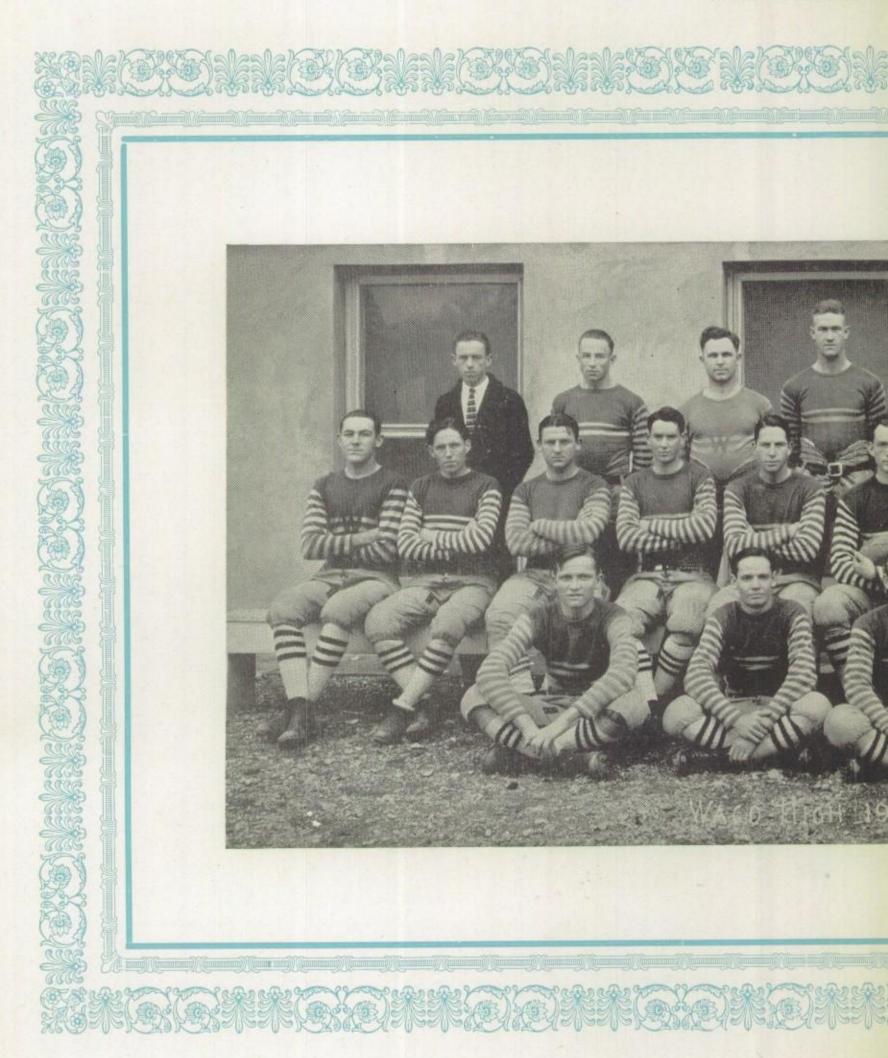

MR. PAUL L. TYSON

(Coach of the Fighting Tigers)

Mr. Tyson was for a number of years a star athlete on the teams of Texas Christian University. He has also been under the tutelage of the famous Stagg of the University of Chicago. However, the natural shrewdness, experience and understanding of the man himself has given Waco High School a coach without parallel in the annals of high school football history. Time and again, nearby and distant colleges have approached our master coach, offering him positions as athletic director and coach. Invariably he has declined the offers. We point with pride to the football squads of '21, '22, '23, and '24—all championship teams. We are also proud of our coach. He is our choice for All-American high school coach of all time. The 1920 Annual was dedicated to Mr. Tyson.

Football

Captain Charlie Taylor, who has the distinction of being Captain of the All-State High School team, was selected as the most valuable man, which is certainly a great honor for any boy. Charlie started the season at a guard position where he was a star, but like most Waco High Captains, he was willing to make a sacrifice and was shifted to the full-back position, where he proved to be a star. Waco is proud of this lad, and hopes him success in the future.

Captain-elect Frank Ish realized the responsibility that he had and he shouldered it like a man, and was one of the best field generals in the State and had no superior in college or high school when it came to kicking field goals. We look for him to be the greatest quarterback Waco High has turned out.

Bob Flewellen, who started at an end but who gradually worked up to a regular half and did the punting for the team, was one of the best high school punters in the State. He will be back next year and we believe he will go "like a house afire."

Melvin Groves, one of the most daring threats that Waco High ever had, was the other half and safety man, and he was a large factor in Waco success. He improved as each game went on and he will be hard to replace next year.

Rex "Kitty" Kathcart, who was the unluckiest boy on the club so far as accidents are concerned, proved his metal and gave Coach Tyson a ray of light, for we know that he will be a star next year.

Alton Martin, perhaps the fastest man on the club, was handicapped by injuries but proved a most valuable man.

Jeff Meroney was a capable understudy for Captain Taylor and we expect great things of Jeff next year.

Claude "Neighbor" Meadows, who was the youngest boy on the team but who had the nerve of any boy, was a great prospect and when given a chance he performed in a highly creditable manner. All we say is, watch "Neighbor" go in the future.

Weldon Lucas was one of the best drop kickers on the team and was also a great half and played a prominent part in Waco High's success.

Cam "Tony" Alexander played a great game at end and his defensive play in the championship game will long be remembered. We hope he gets serious next fall, and if so will be the greatest wing Waco High ever produced.

Earl "Sheik" Rovillo also was one of the State's outstanding wings and was one of the main cogs in Waco High's great team. We wish him luck in his departure from Waco High, which is surely regretted.

Bennie Witsell was a great benefit to the team this year, both at end and in the backfield, and if he is back next year we believe he will be a great wing.

Ralph Winton was one of the hardest working boys on the team, and that kind of a spirit would help any deserving boy to be successful.

Gilbert "Pokey" Ryan, the smallest man on the club, but one of the hardest ends to circle, must surely be commended for his fighting spirit, and may success follow him wherever he goes.

Alex "Red" Hooper, one of the best tackles Waco High ever produced and a real game fighter, will surely be missed next year. We expect great things of him in his college career.

Isaac "Zeke" Snead was one of the best tackles in the State but was injured and was handicapped toward the last of the year; but just watch Zeke next year, for lots is expected of him.

Marshall "Red" Elkins proved a star of the first water, and the "Auburn thatched" youth will be one of the best in the State next year.

Chas. "Irish" Flanagan, the little but loud guard, was in most every play and proved his worth. He is a real star and much is expected cf him.

Joe "Flatonia" Knipple is another star who will be hard to replace next year. Joe played guard and tackle and was hard to equal, and was one of the best guards in the State. May success follow Joe.

Ed Francis is another guard who will be hard to replace, for he was a real fighter and a capable understudy to Irish Flanagan.

Fielding "Fick" Woods who graduated in mid-year, was a highly capable and deserving guard and played a "bang up" game when given a chance to perform. We wish you luck, "Fick."

John "Onnie" Fabbre who played the most consistent game of any center in the State. Onnie believes in the motto, "If at first you don't succeed, try, try again," and he was rewarded this last season as an All-State player.

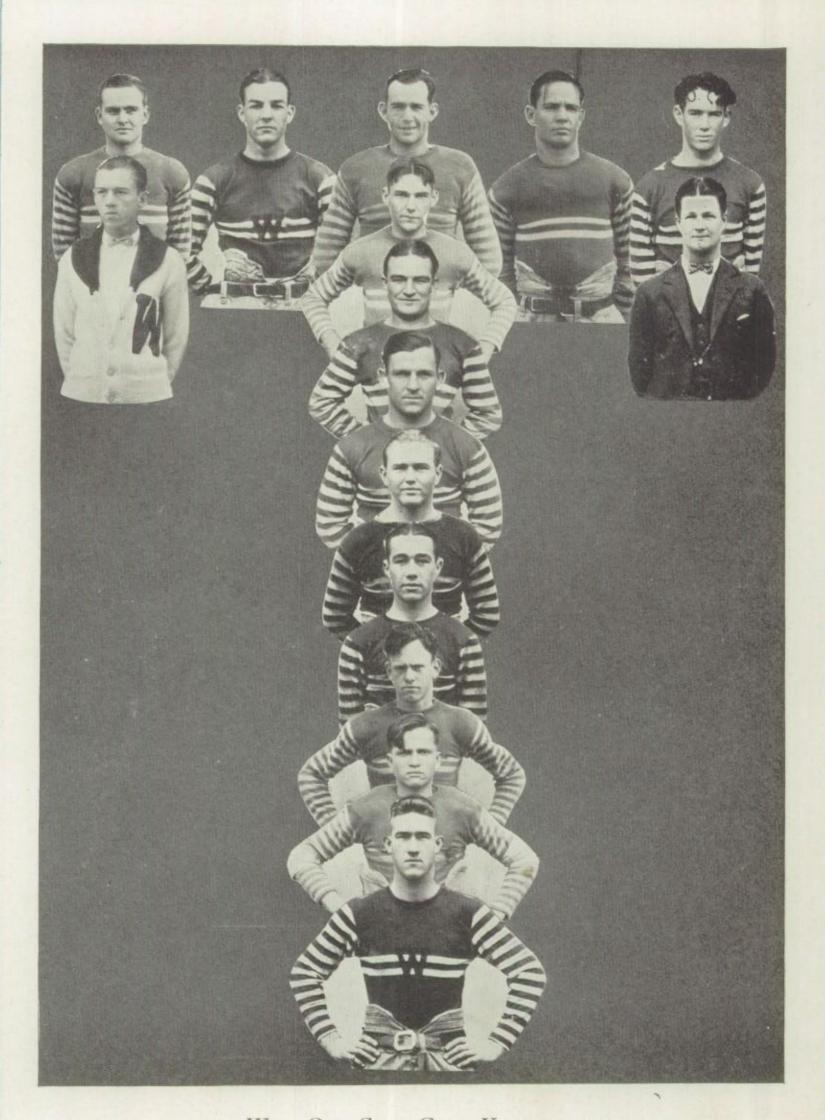

Sid Weathers, Onnie's understudy, was light but had plenty of fight and gave promise of developing into a real pivot man.

This brief acknowledgement is written in recognition of the football second team, which is familiarly known as "The Cannon Fodder." These boys, who work behind the scenes, make championship teams possible for Waco High School. Battered, bleeding, and bruised—but enthusiastically loyal—they fight through the season, unhonored and unknown by the public; but with the satisfaction of knowing that they have done their best. To "The Cannon Fodder" and to their Coach, we take off our hats.

In spite of the loss of many minor games, the season was a great success. After a weak start, the Tigers got into their real stride by defeating Lott for the District title, and a week later by winning over Prairie Hill by a score of 20 to 16. By virtue of their Bi-District title, the Tigers went to Austin to participate in the State finals. However, they lost in the first round to Sulphur Springs, the score being 11 to 10.

Our Basketball Coaches

Too much cannot be said in regard to our Coaches, Mr. G. M. Smith and Mr. Lynton Boggess.

Mr. Smith has been coaching our basketball teams for nine years, ending this season, and during that period he has shown to everyone his capability as a coach. He has been hindered much in his work this year, due to sickness, but he has developed a team this year which is more than a credit to our high school standards. The outlook was very dark, indeed, at the beginning of the season, but with characteristic energy Coach Smith set himself to the task of building a winning team around one letter man left from last year. How well he succeeded is apparent in the fact that the team made the trip to Austin this year, the goal of all teams. We did not win the State Championship, but the Bi-District Championship is a monument to Coach Smith's never-tiring efforts in behalf of high school basketball.

We enjoyed the presence of Lynton Boggess on our coaching staff this year for the first time. Lynton knows the game thoroughly and has a clever knack of imparting his knowledge in such a manner as to have excellent effect on his proteges. Lynton was Coach Smith's right-hand man at all times, assisting him in handling the team on trips and in practice. Lynton is a graduate of Waco High himself and also a basket-ball letter man. Lynton was always ready to exert his every effort in conjunction with Mr. Smith in making a winning team. Luck to you, Lynton!

HE TENNIS CLUB of the Waco High School is completing the most successful year in its history. Organized early in the fall with a small membership, it now numbers over fifty. This club has done a great work in that each of its members is on the program every week and it has furnished pleasure and health-giving exercise to a class of people who do not take part in other branches of school athletics.

After a close and exciting match, Morris Appell and Finis Mason won over Billy Nethery and Thomas Henderson. The winners will represent Waco High at the District Meet while Morris Appell will represent in singles.

Mary Nena Myers will represent Waco High in singles at the District Meet and Elizabeth Hurt and Mary Nena Myers will represent the Waco High in doubles.

The Tennis Club has sent twenty or more letters to the surrounding towns asking for games, but only two towns answered the Tiger's challenge, these being Mount Calm and Coolidge.

The boys won by a great score against these towns, while the Coolidge girls defeated our girls.

Interest ran high over the club tournament which was held the first week in May. There were three medals given to the three best players of the boys and three best players of the girls. A gold medal was given to the first player, a silver to the second, and a bronze to the third.

There has been a great improvement in the playing of members who have just begun to play, and in the coming years Waco High will have better teams than there has ever been in Waco High.

TENNIS TEAMS

The Tennis Team of the year 1925 was composed of Finis Mason, Billy Nethery, Thomas Henderson and Morris Appell. The team, as a whole, played consistent tennis throughout the season. When the season opened only one man, Morris Appell, remained from the team which made a splendid showing in the State Interscholastic Meet at Austin in 1924. The 1925 team was strengthened with the arrival of Finis Mason, a star player from the West Avenue team. He was ranked as No. 2 on the team. Third and fourth places were held by Billy Nethery and Thomas Henderson. In the annual High School Tournament to decide the represensation in the District Meet, Morris Appell won first place, Finis Mason second and Billy Nethery and Thomas Henderson third and fourth, respectively. In the finals, Appell and Mason represented this district in the State meet, which is to be held in Austin the first week in May, as Waco usually excels in Tennis in this section of the State.

The Confederation was organized after much toil and patience and became an organization which has really helped the school. A splendid code of ethics has been adopted and if every member of the different clubs tries to live up to it, the school citizenship will rise to a higher plane. One of the purposes of this organization is to obtain co-operation between the clubs and fix a standard for them. Furthermore, the clubs can take a lead in and sponsor student government. The Confederation co-operated with the Daisy Chain Staff in raising money to help pay for the scenes in this Annual.

The Girls' Glee Club, which a little since was but a fledgling, has stretched its wings this year. Evidences of this may be seen in the Music Room, 116, of the appurtenances that have been gathered thereunto, of piano, Victrola, Victrola records and record cabinet, files and cardindexing system for the music library. A full share in the activities of the student life has been assumed by the group, both individually and collectively.

State Champions

OUR GLEE CLUB

The Glee Club has made an enviable record, that of winning State Championship for three years in succession, among other accomplishments. The group has grown from the charter organization of three members to the present total roll of sixty, has advanced from a voluntary organization, meeting weekly, to one which is a recognized part of the school curriculum, meeting three times a week for a two-hour period.

The Club has assisted in many High School activities as well as appearing in programs in public, some of which were: Armistice Day program, the city Music Memory Contest, a Confederate Veteran Benefit, Rotary Luncheon, etc.

The girls who were members of the Belton team and will receive the "W" for 1925 are:

The Trio, composed of Lucyle Dunagan, Celeste Mersereau and Ethel Ickes, the first two of whom were in the championship trio of 1924, also won first place in the State Interscholastic Meet, which is held at Baylor-Belton College each year.

OUR ORCHESTRA

This has been a remarkably successful year for the Orchestra. It would be impossible to name any one thing as the reason for this success, but possibly the greatest factor in this achievement is that everyone connected with the organization is intensely interested in the work. Then, too, a number of the leading parts have been working together for the past four years. The director is also responsible for much of the success, of whom more will be said later. The entire orchestra will be awarded letters this year, not only because they won the State Championship in the Interscholastic Meet, but also in appreciation of their loyal work for the school.

You are told elsewhere in this volume, some of the victories and achievements of this body, so now we come to say goodbye. Some of us are going to graduate, yet others will return next year to carry on. Those of us who are left have caught a certain vision and a spirit that moves to greater things. Though our ranks be broken, we will make promotions, add recruits and see that old "Waco Hi" is not without a good orchestra next year.

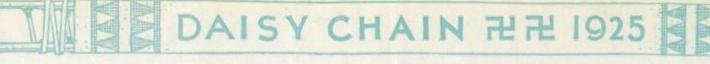

OUR LEADERS

Waco High School has many talented leaders to which the school should do honor. To our athletic coaches we give praise, and our public speaking coaches, we commend as well. Right now, however, we want to speak of the leaders of our music department. For three consecutive years Miss Stivers has produced a Glee Club which won the cup at Belton each year, making it a permanent trophy. Certainly our raw material is no better than that of other towns, but with that unusual ability to train and to direct, she has never failed to produce championship material.

The Boys' Glee Club also owes its success to the careful and painstaking directing of Miss Stivers. Mr. Daniels' work with the club deserves our appreciation and our thanks go to him especially for his work with the ever-popular quartet.

Under Mr. Schaeffer's leadership we have never failed to have a fine orchestra. Members of the orchestra say that no other orchestra in the State has a man who can conduct with that power of getting music from the orchestra which Mr. Schaeffer has. They believe that the thorough training which he has given them and his extraordinary conducting at the meet were the two influences towards "bringing home the bacon."

This statement is a tribute to the players as well as the director, the fact that they are good enough musicians to follow the leadership of their leader.

Waco High Orchestra

Champions of Texas

The orchestra, one of the most important of the High School organizations, has had quite a busy year preparing for and meeting numerous outside engagements. It has played at the Y. M. C. A. Father and Son Banquet, the Football Banquet at the Cotton Palace, two class plays at the Auditorium, and a May Fete at the Montessori School. Various lesser engagements have also been filled. It has also played twice out of town, having given a concert at Hillsboro, and won the State Championship at Belton. Mr. Schaeffer, the director, challenges any high school orchestra to meet this one in a contest.

The personnel of the orchestra is as follows:

First Violin—Melba Dean, J. U. Lee, Jr., Ione Drake, Alwilda Davis. Obligato Violin—Willis Warwick. Dorothy Snider, Mary Emma Second Violin—Maurice Hoffman.

First Clarinet—Brevard Miller.

The Oratorical Association

HE ORATORICAL ASSOCIATION of the Waco High School was formed in 1920, the purpose of the organization being to promote a friendly feeling between the members of the various literary organizations of the school and to act as a clearing house for all matters pertaining to public speaking. At the time of the organization of the association, rivalry was so bitter between certain of the societies that the proper sort of school spirit was endangered.

For a time the Oratorical Association met regularly and held programs, mock trials, and entertainments of various sorts. There was no constitution, but the clubs were bound together loosely by a document known as The Articles of Confederation.

In the Fall of 1920, leading members of the Oratorical Association, noticing the dearth of school spirit in the school, set about to weld the whole school into an organization for the purpose of backing the football team. This organization was known as the Booster Club and it put forward the first two student yell leaders, the yells having been led up to that time by one of the teachers, Mr. C. A. Puckett, now superintendent of schools at Mexia. It is a singular coincidence that the Waco High School football team sprang into State-wide prominence the very year the Booster Club was formed. Monster meetings were held and nearly every member of the school became a member of the Booster Club.

In 1921, according to the annual of that year, the President of the Booster Club was one of the leading factors in managing a huge banquet given at the Y. M. C. A., at which time "The Gymnasium Movement" was started. This movement resulted in interesting a number of influential men of the city, and so the Booster Club had a part in creating interest, which eventually built the fine Gymnasium we now have. Mr. Genheimer made the principal address of the banquet and pointed the way to the building of the Gymnasium.

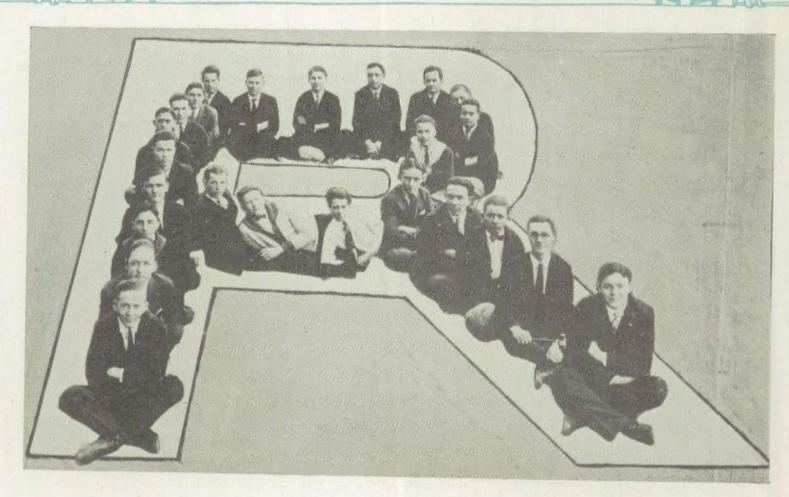

Finally, the Booster Club became so large that it included practically the whole school and surrendered the choice of the cheer leaders to the Senior Class and to the Pep Club, an organization made up of girls alone.

During all this time, the Oratorical Association continued to function, quietly encouraging all student activities and stirring up interest in public speaking events. Through its efforts, the school entered the Interscholastic League in a whole-hearted way. It caused interest to increase in debates, declamation, and oratory. This year the Forum, the Rostra, and the Genheimer all debated other schools and each of these societies sent representatives to the District Meet of the Interscholastic League at Baylor. Although the Darden has not been very active in debate this year, the club has not been inactive in many other ways. Next year, however, it is expected that all the literary societies will participate in contests.

The Oratorical Association adopted a constitution this year and will probably take on renewed life next year. Miss Mary Virginia Chick, of the Darden, was president for the Fall term this year and Ray Rozell was president for the Spring term.

The Rostra Literary Society

"Per Aspera Ad Astra"

HE ROSTRA MOTTO, "Per Aspera Ad Astra" (to victory through difficulties), was borne in mind by the loyal and determined members this year, in the face of disastrous reverses. However, the Rostra spirit was never lacking, for "even though vanquished, they could argue still." Ray Rozell, the president of the Rostra, made the Waco High debating team and will help defend the honor of the school in the district meet. The Rostra, which won two of the contests with the Forum last year and tied the third, might have been a trifle over-confident this year; but the representatives of the society worked hard and long on their speeches, and many who are not connected with the club complimented the boys upon their excellent showing.

The Rostra debating team, composed of Ray Rozell and Hubert Crain, defeated a powerful team from Central High School of Houston. They also had some success with Mount Calm, Hubbard, and a number of other schools.

The declamation team, composed of Thomas Hinson and Roger Lacy, were defeated by the Forum this year. For two years past, Roger Lacy has represented the school in declamation at the district meet of the Interscholastic League. Last year he won the district championship and represented the school at the final meet at the University of Texas.

Several Rostra members are competing in the essay prize contests, conducted by the Daughters of the Confederacy and by the Colonial Dames.

Ray Rozell is president of the Oratorical Association this term, and also holds the position of Managing Editor of the Daisy Chain. He is one of the leaders in student activities.

Walter Schaible, one of the Rostra's most valued members, managed a most excellent radio program for the society in honor of Washington's birthday. Letters have been received from all parts of the United States, complimenting the Rostra on the program.

Walter Schaible is also the guiding genius of the Confederation of Clubs, which was formed this year upon the same plan and as a kind of descendant of the old Booster Club. Walter Schaible will fill out this year as the first president of the Confederation. He also drew up the constitution of the organization; so he may be referred to truthfully as the "Washington and Jefferson of the Confederation."

Joe Stanton, who has been president of the Hi-Y Club for the past year, is an active Rostra member. He missed being elected State president of the Older Boys' Conference of Hi-Y Clubs at the annual meeting in College Station by only three votes. He also made the race for next year's president of the Confederation, as did Odell Jameson. However, Jameson was elected secretary to fill out this term.

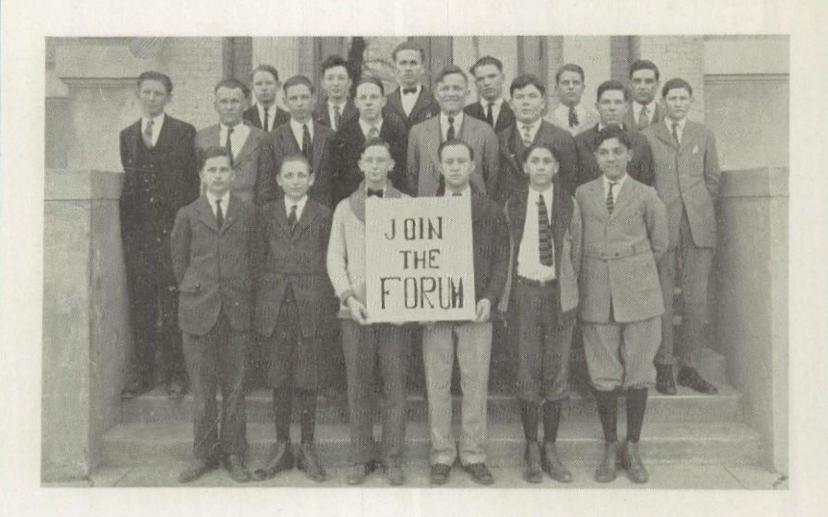

Cary Canon and Joe Stanton, two prominent Rostra members, are also leaders in the Boys' Glee Club—and together with Hugh Hope and John Gray Kendall make up the now famous "Boloney Quartette."

The Rostra constitution has been duly signed by the members of the club this year and has been framed and hung in the school library for the inspection of all. The expense of having the constitution printed, typed, and framed was borne by Mr. Wm. L. Baine, a loyal friend of the society.

Emil Sonneman, a member of the Rostra, is Business Manager of the Daisy Chain this year. Many other Rostra members are exceedingly active in student affairs, but space forbids their mention here.

The Rostra spirit is not dead. "Surrender and retreat" are not to be found in the Rostra dictionary. That last year's sweeping public-speaking successes were not repeated this year does not mean that the Rostra is conquered.

Forum Debating Club

The Forum has just closed one of the most successful seasons since its organization in 1916. This year adds another victory to the accomplishments of the club. For nine years the Forum has triumphed over its powerful rival, the Rostra. This year the Forum won unanimously and obtained the honor of first speaker. In declamation the Forum again won with Gene Madden as first speaker and Willard Nott as second. If the Forum is equally successful in oration, the club will have obtained a clear-cut victory. The Forum has staged over seventy debates with other towns since its organization and has won most of these.

Among its honorary members are Pat M. Neff, Dr. S. P. Brooks, B. B. Cobb and E. T. Genheimer.

The Forum sacrifices the training of one team for the upbuilding of the entire club. Even after overcoming all disadvantages, the Forum record speaks for itself:

Forum, 5; Rostra, o (ninth year!).

Forum, 5; Bremond 2. Forum, 2; Bremond, 1.

Forum Debaters and Coach

First Team-(won from Rostra, 5-0)-HAROLD KNOP AND FRANK WILSON

HAROLD KNOP—Harold is the only three-letter debating student in Waco High School. He has represented the Forum for the last three years in the Banquet Debate. As a fitting close of his debating work, he won first place in the Rostra-Forum Debate by a vote of 4-1. Besides being a winner in debate, he is a declaimer and orator of note. Harold has the type of oratory that knocks them cold. Harold won the Ed Johnston prize for oratory this year.

FRANK WILSON—Frank has two letters in debating and was instrumental in winning the 5-0 decision over the Rostra. Besides his debating, he is a declaimer and extemporaneous orator of note. Frank was the youngest debater in the annual Forum-Rostra debate. He received third place in the Banquet Debate.

Second Team-REO KIMBRIEL AND EDWARD GEORGE

This second team won a debate by default from the Rostra, and in addition have won letters in debate. They have successfully met outside towns.

The Forum third team is Willard Nott and Robert Jarrell. The fourth team is George Griffin and Paul Meadows, and the fifth team is David Brickman and Manuel Hoppenstein. All of these have won debates from outside towns.

Gene Madden and Willard Nott represented the Forum in declamation, and both won from the Rostra.

MR. A. P. CAGLE proved a capable coach for the team.

Darden Literary Society

The Darden Literary Society, which has been organized for a good many years, was one of the active organizations of the school during the past year. It was first organized by Miss Annie Forsgard, who is still its adviser. At its very interesting meetings the club discussed the different phases of literature—books, authors, and current topics.

Each term, one big party was held besides many other minor social activities. These parties—held at the Fish Pond and at the Municipal Club House—were attended by a large number of the girls. At both a supper was served, picnic style. The last, a St. Patrick party, carried out the color scheme of green, even to the lemonade!

The officers of this club of twenty-five members were:

ETHEL BURNHAM	President
ALICE DAWSON	First Vice President
Mary Lynn Jones	Second Vice President
CORNELIA WITSELL	Third Vice President
MARGUERITE MANTON	Secretary
PAULINE HARDER	Treasurer
RUTH SPRATT	Critic
MARY VIRGINIA CHICK	Reporter

Every year it is the custom of the club members who are graduating to ask younger girls to join and be their "little sisters." The "big sisters" are then invited to meetings and all the good times of the club by their "wards."

Hi-Y Club Has Conducted Most Successful Year

Among the foremost clubs of High School is the Hi-Y Club which has had a big part in all the activities of Waco Hi. Early in the school season the club outlined the program for the various events of the year and it has been gratifying to see how well the plans have been carried out. As a loyal boost for our Tigers, the Hi-Y Club had several thousand football folders printed and distributed among the student body. During Father and Son Week, in November, the Club celebrated with their annual Father and Son Banquet which was an outstanding event. Thanksgiving was the occasion for the winning of the national championship for 'possum hunting, as the members of the club brought down eight fat 'possums. New Year's Day shall long be remembered on account of the terrific football battle played on Baylor Field when the Waco Hi-Y wiped up on the High School Science Club team to the tune of 12-0. The State Older Boys' Conference held at A. & M. College in February was attended by twentynine Waco delegates and a distinct honor was conferred on the Hi-Y President, Joe Stanton, when he was nominated for President of the Older Boys' Conference. In the election Stanton lost by only three votes, and the Waco delegation was in the limelight for the splendid campaign they conducted in seeking to elect their candidate. Among the splendid social events, the entertainment given the Hi-Y Club by the Girl Reserves and the return banquet in which the Hi-Y Club honored the Girl Reserves, were the outstanding occasions although the club conducted several wiener roasts and hay rides. The speakers at the weekly meetings have been of the highest order and have been instrumental in bringing some wonderful inspiration to the club membership. Much of the credit for the exceptional year's work is due Joe Stanton, who has served as President, who with his corps of capable officers have been untiring in their efforts to promote the all-around club work. The Advisory Committee which has shown such a great interest, is composed of Prof. E. D. Johnson, G. R. Lay, and A. C. Patton, together with the Leader, J. Floyd Smith, the Boys' Work Secretary of the Y. M. C. A.

The officers who have served for the past year are: Joe Stanton, President; Frank M. Wilson, Jr., Vice President; Fontaine Toland, Secretary; Hugh Hope, Treasurer; Sam Dibble, Sergeant at Arms. The Committee Chairmen were: Bible Study, Cary Canon; Meetings, Julius Schulz; Service Activities, Sam Dibble; World Outlook, Emil Sonneman; Membership, Travis Earhart, Social, Frank M. Wilson, Jr.; Publicity, Harold Stafford.

Pep Club

The Pep Club of 1924 has been one of the most successful of all the Pep Clubs. It worked diligently and patiently, trying to make perfect on the field, between halves, that glorious "W" which stands for this grand old school, Waco High, and at one time formed a "T" which stood for those Tigers who fought so bravely and cleanly for Waco High. They were behind the football team and all other school activities with their pep and enthusiasm, big and strong.

This pep was maintained throughout the season, through the untiring efforts of Lena Huggins, Mary Nena Myers (girl yell leaders), and that bunch of peppy, happy-go-lucky, boosting girls. The uniforms were of Gold and White and brought out the good old colors plenty strong.

AS A GIRL RESERVE I WILL BE:

G—racious in manner, I—mpartial in judgment, R—eady for service, L—oyal to friends.

R—eaching towards the best,
E—arnest in purpose,
S—eeing the beautiful,
E—ager for knowledge,
R—everent to God,
V—ictorious over self,
E—ver dependable,
S—incere at all times.

Truly, the Girl Reserves have accomplished their purpose during the past year. Their year's work is a story of a helping hand given the needy, joy in work as well as play and a bettering of themselves to make all 'round girls.

During the year a great many of the girls got their Girl Reserves rings. This ring stands for so much hard work that it is indeed an honor to wear one. The girls with the "G. R." ring can be picked out as worth-while girls.

Latin Club

The Latin Club which was organized early in the school year for the purpose of fostering interest in the classics, has grown steadily until its membership now numbers fifty-seven. The consuls for the first term were Alice Dawson and Morris Appell; for the last term they were Mary Virginia Chick and Joseph Bain. The club has adopted for its emblem a pin in the form of a Roman lamp. The club song is the Latin version of "Spirit of Waco." Meetings were held on alternate Tuesdays.

A number of interesting programs have been given throughout the year. Humorous dramatizations of the Pyramus and Thisbe and the Pluto and Proserpine stories were presented with Joe Bain and Alice Dawson, Luke Johnson and Princess Boyd in the respective leading roles. A study of Roman dress was made with doll models dressed to represent the Roman lady, the Roman citizen, the Roman boy, and the legionary soldier. A charming plaster model of a Roman house was made by Toxie Cathey; its red tile roof could be removed to show the interior which was decorated and furnished in imitation of the best Pompeiian style by other members of the club. Slide sets, borrowed from the University of Texas, showed games and playthings of Roman children and views of Rome. A Roman wedding and a scene from a Roman school were also produced.

It was with great pleasure that the club learned that faithful members were to receive extra points on their grades as a partial reward for their efforts; their chief reward had been in the benefit and pleasure derived from the activities themselves.

The Science Club believes that it has set a record which has never been equalled in the history of the school. No less than one hundred students have entered into membership of the club in the past year. That the membership is not dead is proved by the fact that the Monday night meetings in the last half of the year are usually attended by forty or more of the members. Following the football season, the club has been meeting on Friday afternoons as well as on Monday nights. Those who work in the afternoons have an opportunity to come at nights and vice versa.

The first great event during the school year was a campaign speech made by "Andy Gump" during the presidential race. The "Honorable Andrew Gump" came to Waco at the request of the Science Club and delivered his great speech over the radio station WJAD at the Hotel Raleigh. Among the excellent programs rendered in the Fall was a Thanksgiving program at which time Mr. W. E. Sturgeon of the faculty gave a splendid talk to the club. Mr. C. M. Elwell, Mr. P. L. Tyson, and Mr. L. A. Woods have lectured to the club at various times during the year. In addition to these, the club had the pleasure of hearing Dr. W. A. Buice, and Dr. W. T. Gooch of Baylor University, Mr. W. D. Barton of the Barton Mfg. Co., Mr. D. D. Dewey of the Zeese Engraving Co., Mr. B. B. Cobb, and Dr. I. Block.

The Club members gained much knowledge by their visits to the filtration plant, M. B. Ise Kream Co., Price-Booker Mfg. Co., Belle Meade Locomotive Shops, and Miller Cotton Mills.

Members who do a certain amount of required work in the club are, upon recommendation, given credit for the same in Biology, Physics, or Chemistry. Another thing the Science Club can credit itself with, is the fact that through its continuous efforts a new stereoptical machine was bought for the school by the school board. By selling confections at the football games, the club raised enough money to pay off the debt on the school's radio set and buy apparatus in addition. The Club wants to pay for a telescope and a moving picture machine for the school in the same manner next year. Of course, part of the money will have to be raised by other means.

The club has not failed in social activities, having had a hay ride, weiner roast, and parties. Mr. W. D. Barton's sleight-of-hand entertainment was a treat the club considers itself fortunate in getting. The football game with the Hi-Y Club was enjoyed heartily, although the score was in favor of the Hi-Y.

In celebration of its first anniversary the club held a big banquet at the close of the year. A splendid program with good eats went to make a jolly time for the large crowd that attended.

El Circulo Espanol

Motto: Adelante, siempre adelante.

During the month of October, 1924, a few of the "ole faithfuls" reorganized El Circulo Espanol for the year 1924-1925. At first it seemed that their efforts were futile, but after much earnest endeavor they found that they had a real peppy club with members willing to promote its growth. With the club motto, "Adelante, siempre adelante," as a guide the roll grew from a list of nine names to over twenty-five. Enjoyable programs were rendered at each meeting. A club scrap-book was made in which clippings concerning the Latin-American countries have been kept.

It is hoped that El Circulo Espanol will continue to grow in the following years and create a lively interest for the Spanish students.

First row: Miss Sarah Christian, Dorris Roberts, Ruth Gardner, Katherine Carter, Rosie Marroquin, Miss Mary McGill.

Second row: PRICE McWilliams, Percy Carpenter, Katherine McKee, Frances McCrary, Pherba Lee McCrary, Alton Ferrell, Alfred Dorsett.

The Boys' Glee Club

Under the direction of Mr. C. D. Daniel and Miss Cobby de Stivers, a Glee Club of boys was organized in September of last year. The material was rather poor at the beginning but through the constant efforts of Miss Stivers and Mr. Daniel, a club has been formed consisting of about forty-five members.

A quartette has also been organized, composed of John Gray Kendall, Joe Stanton, Hugh Hope, and Cary Canon. This group of boys has been very popular, not only at school but also with the general public, by broadcasting over radio and appearing at a local theatre as an added attraction.

The Glee Club as a whole has shown its ability several times in chapel and other places.

DAISY CHAIN HH 1925

Chemistry

The High School Chemistry Course has been planned so that the student on completing it has a thorough understanding of the fundamental principles of Chemistry. Our laboratory, which is one of the best equipped in the State, gives excellent opportunity for putting the knowledge gained into practice. To those who have avoided the course because it is hard, we wish to say that though requiring diligent study, Chemistry is one of the most interesting studies in the whole curriculum.

Aims and Purposes of the Waco Parent-Teacher Association

- 2. To awaken the fathers and mothers of high school students to a sense of their responsibility for any condition which may affect the welfare of the school or its students.
- 3. To create a truer understanding between parents and teachers of Waco High School, as to purposes, plans, and ideals of both parents and teachers.
- 4. To promote such plans and programs as will advance the educational, economic and social standards of Waco High School students.

PSALM OF A SENIOR

Tell us not in mournful accents

That graduation is a dream,

For we have toiled and suffered

Four long years are what they seem.

Work is real, work is earnest, And eight hours is not its goal; Work today and work tomorrow Has not failed to take its toll.

Not detentions, and not periods, Is our destined goal or way, But to see that each tomorrow Shows us credit for today.

Life is short and time is fleeting, And now our credits bid leave, Still our hearts in dread are beating, To our school we'd love to cleave.

In the world's broad field of battle,
In the whirl of daily life,
We can show that we have striven
Through four long years of high school life.

Looks of Seniors past remind us
We can make ourselves a name,
And, departing, leave behind us
Notebooks in the halls of fame.

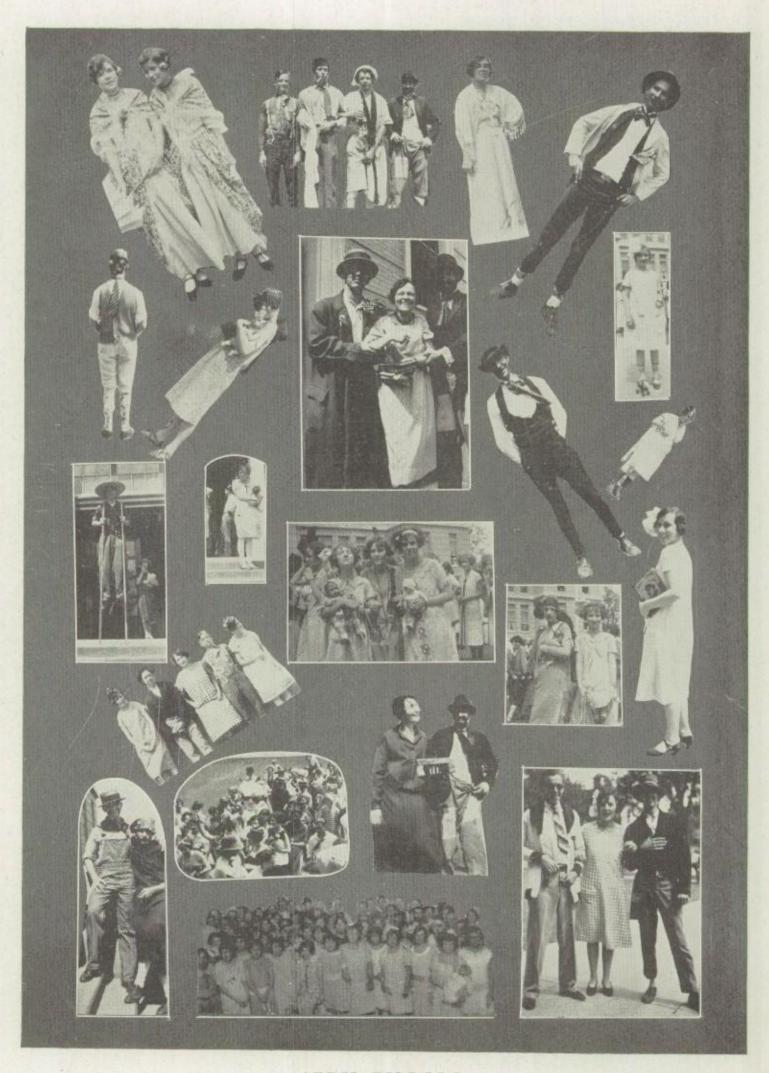

Notebooks that perhaps some other Struggling through a course again, A poor, disheartened fellow-sufferer, Seeing, may take heart again.

Let us then resolve to struggle, With a heart for any fate, Still pursuing, still undaunted, Learn to labor and to wait.

-Exchange.

Henrietta E.: "Oh, how lovely of you to bring me those beautiful flowers! How sweet they are and how fresh. I do believe there is a little dew on them yet."

After High School What?

No field of endeavor offers such wonderful possibilities as the business world. The business world wants you, and is willing to pay the price for what you are worth.

Your earning capacity will be doubled if you have the proper business training—DOUBLED AGAIN, AND AGAIN.

Our training is the last word in business college education. We teach PITMAN and GREGG Shorthand, 20th Century Bookkeeping, Cost Accounting, Banking, Public Accounting and Auditing, Federal Income Tax Accounting, Typewriting, and all auxiliary subjects.

THE OWNERS OF THE SCHOOL ARE EXPERT TEACHERS AND ACTUALLY TEACH YOU FROM THE DAY YOU ENTER UNTIL THE DAY YOU GRADUATE.

WHERE "GAYLEIZED ANNUALS" ARE MADE

Gayleized Annuals are Superior

Regardless of how well your Annual is edited or how good the engraver makes your plates, the final degree of the success of your book is in hands of your printer---printing either "makes or breaks" your Annual---it is far more than mere paper, type and ink.

Therefore it is natural that such a great number of schools throughout the Southwest should seek the Annual Publishing Service of such a house as the Gayle Printing Company. This house offers you an organization of craftsmen skilled in Annual publishing—men who are experienced in your book construction as well as men who are artists in typography and presswork. The friendly, helpful service of these men who make Gayleized Annuals Superior Annuals is recognized and appreciated by live Annual staffs

DETECTIVE LAYS SCANDAL BARE

New Club Is Discovered in SECRET BACHELORS' CLUB 18 WORSE THAN K. K. K.

Having received my badge and diplema from the Holmes-Watson Correspondence School for Amateur Detectives, I set out in search of a case which would try my skill.

I decided to make a visit to Hollis Barron to see if he could find me emplayment worthy of my skill. But in passing the High School I was alarmed to see a light gleaming from the third story window and curious figures passing to and fro in said room.

After climbing up the flug pole, I seated myself and drew out my trusty microscope and set up my portable radio set. After focusing my microscope and tuning in my radio set, I was surprised to see a familiar form seated behind the desk in the Biology Roem, and to hear those familiar words: "Urchins, I'm telling you the truth, and that's what God loves." Seated before him were several masculine members of the High School faculty who are well known to us as the faithful few who have not succumbed to that terrible enemy—Dan Capid. Adjusting my microscope a trifle I was able to focus it upon the roll book and read the following names: E. A. (Eustace Archibald) Bernhausen, Clarence K. Elwell, Paul L. Tyson, A. P. (Appie) (Continued on Page 4) (Continued on Page 4)

THE TEACHER'S DAY

Ah! 8:20 and no tardies, and a full class! Every student has entered with the same dignity that one gives Mr.
Genheimer credit for. All of them have recited their lessons perfectly and opintness has prevailed during the class! Every student has entered with quietness has prevailed during the quietness has prevailed during the would say, of the latest piane recital whole period. Assembly period, the held in the school auditorium. This student in his place; no talking can be heard; the second bell has just rung. We were dismissed for the plane recital was as rung. We were dismissed promptly. Every period has been a restful peri-ed. All the students were on time and recited their lessons wonderfully Ninth period has ended and no students to keep in. I hate to leave the students who are so anxious and eager to learn and so lost in thought that they didn't have time to be disorderly. But as there is nothing to do here, am ready for a pleasant afternoon and evening. I am rested and able to enjoy playing.

Again. Oh dear, and also piffle Last year, but you fell for it

Reveals the Secret of Big Satchel

TEACHERS' SATCHELS HOLD ODD ODDITIES

The school has long wondered what certain teachers carry in those intercertain teather bags, brief cases, gran-ny bags, book satchels, or whatever one wishes to call them. A certain student more inquisitive than the rest says that he peaked into several of them while the teachers were not look-ing and found that the brief cases contained the following:

Mr. Nelson had in his brief case a copy of "Col. Billie's Weekly," a key to the solid geometry book, and a book of cross-word puzzles. Mr. Bragg's case contained a change of socks and a book entitled "How to Succeed or From Plowshare to University Professorship." Mr. Bernversity Professorably, Mr. Bernhausen's contained a book of books of book of books of the plans and a book entitled "How to Win Her." Mr. Johnson's had in it a book entitled "Buffalo Bill" and another with the title of "Nick Carter."

The piano recital was as great a lark as the art exhibit. First a man came out on the stage, and then Miss Spratt, Miss Barrett, and others came on the stage, after a quarrel over which should be first. The piano was the blamedest, catty corneredest piano imaginable, a sort of billiard table on

THREE REASONS

1. Because of the quality of merchandise, service and food. Everything good and wholesome, selected with a view to dietary needs. A full noon luncheon here at a very reasonable price. We invite you to eat your noonday lunch with us.

2. Because of the wholesome moral atmosphere in the store. No home could have better moral surroundings. A person or child cannot be a regular customer here without a beneficent effect on his character. We invite you to come and see, and ask our customers to help maintain the high moral standing.

3. Because one aim of the store is to help ambitious students in their way through school. Two boys attending "Waco High," work in the store during spare time. As the business grows, others will find positions here. Your patronage will serve a good purpose.

These are three of many good grounds on which your patronage is solicited by

If you do not like this book, do not tell the editor, for she will weep on your manly shoulder; do not tell the managing editor, for he has an Irish tongue; do not tell the faculty adviser, for he will give you a growl; do not tell the photographer, for he has been taking private boxing lessons. In other words, keep your blamed criticisms to yourself—or tell it to the business manager. He pays the bills and settles all difficulties.
